Preface: West Ashley

A Better Life, Every Generation

The City of Charleston has the goal of completing a master plan for West Ashley. West Ashley is the first-ring suburb of Charleston situated on the west side of the Ashley River across from the downtown peninsula (Exhibit A). Historically, West Ashley is the 1670 founding site of Charles Towne and of the state of South Carolina. For almost 300 years, West Ashley was a farming community and the historic plantations still line a portion of the Ashley River. The area of West Ashley closest to the Charleston peninsula contains early twentieth-century and post-World War II residential neighborhoods and a historic freedman's settlement.

From the 1970's-1990's West Ashley experienced tremendous residential and commercial growth as the area became more accessible through an interstate highway extension and other infrastructure improvements. Today, conventional suburban development occupies most of West Ashley. West Ashley's most successful commercial areas are recently revitalized 1950's era retail districts that include local restaurants and design oriented businesses. Conversely, other commercial areas include outdated and underutilized strip centers, vacant or underperforming big boxes, and a declining regional mall. Key commercial corridors are inconsistent in quality, appearance and function.

Looking forward, West Ashley's future is promising. West Ashley lives better than it presents and has great neighborhoods and parks that are attracting a growing residential population. Residents are purchasing homes and making substantial investments in renovations. Older retail centers have many tenant terms coming to an end which provides opportunity for redevelopment. Furthermore, the City of Charleston has a renewed focus on West Ashley. Leading this charge with new initiatives, plans and staffing is new Mayor John Tecklenburg.

West Ashley Population Statistics (Census 2010, ESRI Business Analyst):

- Area: Approx. 45 square miles
- 2015 Population for all of West Ashley (City + PSD): 73,007 (60,878 in the City, which is approximately 45% of City of Charleston total population)
- Households: 33,219
- Families: 18,715
- Owner Occupied Housing Units: 18,718
- Renter Occupied Housing Units: 14,501
- Median Age: 37.8
- Median Household Income: $52,709

Residential Building Permits Issued in 2015 (single-family + multi-family): 518 (<http://www.charleston-sc.gov/DocumentCenter/View/10359>)

It should include policy statements, goals, objectives, guidelines, maps and graphics that can serve as a foundation for future land use decisions. It should serve as both a guide and the impetus for an anticipated update to the City's Zoning, Land Use, and Development Ordinances. The plan should provide strategies and goals to encourage economic development, quality residential and commercial growth, revitalization of obsolete auto-centric commercial areas, and general improvements for the protection of the quality of life for West Ashley's residents and businesses. At last, the West Ashley Master Plan should coordinate City policies at all scales using the same overall principles so that the plan can operate cohesively and guide the efforts of the City's many stakeholders and decision makers at every level.

B. Scope of Work

The West Ashley Master Plan should provide the basis for West Ashley's regulations and policies that guide its physical and economic development. The West Ashley Master Plan should establish priorities for public action and direction for complementary private decisions. The West Ashley Master Plan should contain illustrative plans, diagrams, maps, and pictures to make its concepts clear and accessible to City officials, residents, developers, community groups, and other stakeholders. The West Ashley Master Plan should provide a flexible framework that can be updated, revised, and improved upon over time to stay relevant to the issues the City must confront as well as the ambitions the City chooses to pursue.

This plan should serve as a tool to evaluate new development proposals and direct capital improvements and to guide public policy in a manner that ensures that West Ashley continues to be the community that its citizens desire it to be. The plan should be divided into elements that include goals and policies that set broad policy directions and identify specific actions that will enhance West Ashley's quality of life, respect its natural environs, and support complementary economic growth and development.

Structure of the Master Plan

Each element of the plan should contain, but not be limited to the following sections:

- Current Conditions: A discussion of existing circumstances about both the physical City and current City policy;
- Community Concerns: Consensus concerns expressed by community members as part of the public involvement process of meetings, charrettes, and interviews that were conducted early in the planning process;
- Strategies for Addressing Community Concerns: Policy discussions and recommendations with illustrative plans and renderings that articulate strategies to be accomplished through City actions and partnerships among local governmental agencies, private sector businesses, community organizations, and neighborhood residents; and
- Goals and Policies: Each goal summarizes the desired end-state for a particular subject based on the community's vision. Policies identify implementation actions and the principles that form the basis for City regulations and procedures and for desired actions by the greater community.

Overall Goals of the Master Plan

Through the charrette process and meetings with public officials, the West Ashley Master Plan should establish, but not be limited to the following guiding principles:

- Regional Land Use Patterns: Encourage infill development within West Ashley over peripheral expansion to conserve environmental resources, spur economic investment, repair social fabric, reduce the cost of providing infrastructure and services, and reclaim abandoned areas;

- Urban Design: Incentivize development projects of exemplary location and design throughout West Ashley via catalytic small area plans;
- The Retrofit of Suburbia: Implementation strategies should be focused on the various scales of retrofitting suburbia;
- Market Driven Recommendations: The plan should assess current market conditions and existing stakeholders and provide development options for sites identified as opportunities. The plan should also identify ways to jump-start private sector development investment through the development of incentives that should maximize return on public investment.
- Transportation: West Ashley should be connected through meaningful travel options and land-use patterns that support mobility, walkability, livability, and sustainability.
- Public Facilities: Provide community services and facilities that meet the physical, educational, and recreational needs of all segments of the City's community including those associated with drainage, recreational, parks, open space, and public safety.
- Housing: To provide housing in West Ashley through complete, connected neighborhoods containing quality, affordable, and accessible choices to serve all income levels and age groups.
- Economic Development: Build a foundation for economic prosperity that nurtures an atmosphere of innovation, increases quality of life to attract national and international talent, offers high-quality infrastructure, improves education and workforce development, and increases tourism.
- Health: Improve the overall physical and mental health of West Ashley citizens by increasing the quality of life in the region.
- Sustainability: Secure the viability of environmental resources for West Ashley's people, flora, and fauna so that future generations may experience a constantly improving environment that is always more resilient than that of the previous generation.
- Stormwater: Provide innovative and sustainable strategies for addressing complex stormwater drainage systems including but not limited to stormwater strategies involved in the retrofit of suburbia.

Plan Implementation

This Master Plan is intended to play a pivotal role in shaping the future of West Ashley. A comprehensive implementation strategy should include, but not be limited to the following:

- Annual Work Programs and Budgets: The City of Charleston should be cognizant of the recommendations of the West Ashley Master Plan when preparing annual work programs and budgets;
- Development Approvals: The approvals process for development proposals, including rezoning and subdivision plats, should be a central means of implementing the West Ashley Master Plan. The zoning regulations and the subdivision regulations should be updated in response to regulatory strategies presented in the West Ashley Master Plan;

- Capital Improvement Plans: The City's capital improvement plans (CIP) and long-range utility, and transportation plans should be prepared consistent with the West Ashley Master Plan's land use policies and infrastructure recommendations (water, sewer, stormwater, transportation, and parks/recreation);
- Economic Incentives: Economic incentives should carry out Master Plan goals and policies. Geographic areas identified by the illustrative plans should have high priorities for incentives and public/private partnerships; and
- Private Development Decisions: Property owners and developers should consider the strategies and recommendations of the Master Plan in their own land planning and investment decisions. Public decision-makers will be using the Master Plan as a guide in their development-related deliberations.

Community involvement is key to a successful plan. Submitting firms should provide a methodology for community participation that allows for the active involvement of City Council, the local business community, and the citizens of West Ashley.
