Total Attendees: 1065
Countries represented: 27
US states/territories represented: 47

Age:
- 70+ (43)
- 61-70 (111)
- 51-60 (121)
- 41-50 (159)
- 31-40 (156)
- 21-30 (104)
- <20: (2)

Gender:
- prefer not to answer (29)
- non-binary (3)
- male (606)
- female (412)

Ethnicity:
- American Indian/Native American (8)
- Black/African American (42)
- Asian/Pacific Islander (50)
- Prefer Not to Say (62)
- Hispanic (90)
- White (776)
- Other (23)

Professions:
- Academic - (43)
- Architect - (155)
- Attorney - (15)
- Broker - (5)
- Citizen Activist - (10)
- Developer - (50)
- Elected Official - (13)
- Engineer - (34)
- Journalist - (8)
- Landscape Architect - (29)
- Nonprofit Professional - (49)
- Other - (87)
- Planner - (340)
- Prefer not to Answer - (4)
- Public Agency - (35)
- Researcher - (11)
- Student - (55)
- Urban Designer - (107)

Theme:
CNU 29. Design for Change focused on the intersection between design and power

Additional Events Offered:
PLACE Initiative, Vertical Vision courses, Core programming, International series, and social hours

Sessions and Tracks:
54 offered over 3 days
- policy (9)
- social (19)
- physical (31)
*sessions could have more than 1 track focus
“I learn SO much at CNU and return excited and inspired! I am constantly sharing what I have learned at CNU with others!.”

“The annual Congress is one way I keep up on the newest and most cutting-edge developments. I was very happy to see that CNU finally dedicated significant effort to race issues. Overdue.”

“We need to keep pushing the boundaries, as well as bringing along other national and international thought leaders, and staying abreast of innovation and cutting-edge thinking in other groups around the world”

“This was a truly superb event because of the program subjects, the quality of the presenters and the extraordinary moderating.”

“I attended CNU 29 to learn more about current topics and trends in New Urbanism, network with people, and learn where I could best fit in the workforce to improve the quality of lives of people”

“Extremely thoughtful panelists addressing important topics; this is a place to connect with the core concerns and conversations animating the profession.”

“This is one of the few mainstream events that embrace diversity and discussion.”